V. Client Success Story

*Note: The following paragraphs describe a case successfully managed by the Service Provider evaluated in this report since it joined the Texas Alternative to Abortion Services Program. It is shared for the limited purpose of illustrating the quality and scope of the Service Provider's work. The client has given their consent for their story to be included in this report, and their name has been changed to protect their privacy.

My husband saw an article in the local newspaper about the free ultrasound at New Beginnings. I called the number listed in the article after doing some online research on New Beginnings. The lady who answered the phone was friendly, answered my questions and gave me plenty of information.

My expectation was that New Beginnings was going to be similar to attending a state or government agency, something that can be exhausting, frustrating and shameful. However, after I made the phone call, I had a feeling the visit would be a stress-free, pleasant, supportive experience. The staff was very understanding, efficient, professional, confidential, and always friendly.

All of the services I have received have been very beneficial and appreciated. I received a pregnancy test, an ultrasound, and a new mommy bag. I am taking parenting and pregnancy classes, and receiving spiritual counseling. The ultrasound was performed by a doctor instead of a technician. This was very surprising considering it was a free service. The doctor performing my ultrasound had an excellent bedside manner as well.

The classes I take give me a reason to get out of the house. I feel that attending the classes helps me become a better parent and a better person. When we found out about the classes, we assumed they would be a group gathering where overly indulgent or overly strict parents would exchange support. The classes are nothing like that; they are purely educational DVD. Your advocate is there to clarify anything concerning the classes, share experiences, and answer any questions about the lesson.

My favorite classes thus far would be the ones on discipline. These classes make more appropriate discipline easier to understand. All of the classes are from the perspective of pediatricians, child psychologists, experienced parents, or whatever particular expert pertains to that subject.

The "Mommy Money" program is another great program that New Beginnings has to offer. I would not have been able to get many maternity clothes without my "mommy money." This money also covers children's items as well.

I would tell every parent, expectant mother, or caregiver that New Beginnings is an excellent support system. New Beginnings has especially been a supportive network for me considering all of my family lives hours away. It is a non-judgmental environment. My experience at New Beginnings has given me fulfillment, self-worth, and knowledge with each and every visit. One can never know too much and can always learn a different perspective.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount. The Service Provider completed corrective action for the second deficiency listed in Section II of this report by addressing and rectifying it prior to the date of this report.

Located near Blinn College, New Beginnings Life Ministries provides pregnancy counseling, parent education, and assistance to pregnant women in need of maternity clothes, baby clothes, and baby furniture. They are well known within the community for the public "Resale Shop" located within their facility where clients can spend "Mommy Bucks" earned by participating in various programs. They also offer Child Development Classes at a local high school each semester.

It is shared for the limited purpose of illustrating the quality and scope of the Service Provider's work. The client has given their consent for their story to be included in this report, and their name has been changed to protect their privacy.

Growing up, my mother worked three jobs just to be able to put food on the table for (us) me and my siblings. She is a very strong woman and I am very grateful to have a mother that loves her kids so much that she will sacrifice many things just to provide for us. I am the baby of three in my family, so I got to see everything that my brother and sister put my mother through. Because of that I believe that gave me the desire to do things differently and break the cycle of drugs, getting in trouble, and not having any dreams for my future. I am the only one in my family that has graduated from high school and also to attend college.

I have been blessed with the greatest kids a mother could ask for. My son is 11 years old, my daughter is 9 years old and I am pregnant with a baby boy. I believe that the struggles that we have been through have made us appreciate the power of love and faith. I have experienced many trials and tribulations in being a mom but I wouldn't trade it for anything in the world.

I was looking for a job that would help me get off of government assistance. I found a job but it was causing more problems than it solved. I couldn't decide whether to keep the job or go back on government assistance. Faced with this decision I was so upset one day that I found myself driving around not knowing where I was going asking God, "how am I going to make it?" I was driving aimlessly, crying my eyes out and not sure what I was going to do. I found myself driving down East 29th Street in Bryan – I never drive on that side of town! As I drove down East 29th Street I saw a sign that said Good Samaritan, and thought "with a name like Good Samaritan, maybe they can help me." So I stopped and went inside to see what the Good Samaritan was and if they could help me. The office was really busy when I arrived but I found out they could help me with maternity clothes and could schedule an appointment to allow us to talk more about my situation.

I spoke with a consultant who took me back to look through some maternity clothes. After giving me some time to look through some of the clothes, she came and sat with me. I felt a sense of peace and I ended up pouring out my life circumstances to her. She took the time out of her busy day and sat there and listened to me cry and tell her everything that was going on with me and my children. She made me feel as if my life does matter and that she is concerned for me and my family. She not only helped me with the maternity clothes, she also set me up with the Maternity and Parenting Classes so that I can get the things that are needed for my baby that is on the way. She also showed me where I could go for the other assistance that I needed. Her taking the time out of her busy day to listen to what I was going through took a huge weight off my shoulders.

Since I have been attending the classes at "Good Samaritan Gabriel Project Life Center" I have learned so much more than I could've imagined. The classes are very educational and they keep me right on track with where I am in my pregnancy. I am grateful to be able to receive all of the information that is given to me through them. I am learning things that I never knew even through raising my other two children. The classes are teaching us how to take care of our baby and to make sure that they get all of the things they need to be healthy and loved.

Recently I had a meeting with the Dyslexia committee about my son and I was explaining to them about the help that I am receiving through the Good Samaritan and one of the ladies told me that she was so excited to hear my story because her and her husband donate money each month to them. I thanked her and asked her to please continue to donate because it really does change people's lives like it has changed mine. I explained that without the help from those who donate I really don't know where I would be right now.

The Good Samaritan is such a help in many ways. I greatly appreciate everything that they do for me and my family. I want the people who work there to know how much my life has changed because of your care. Thank you from the bottom of my heart. Because of you all I am no longer crying daily and I have more hope now than I believe I have ever had.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount. The Service Provider completed corrective action for the deficiency listed in Section II of this report by addressing and rectifying it prior to the date of this report.

Good Samaritan Center is focused on providing pregnancy assistance, life-affirming counseling and material assistance to pregnant women in crisis pregnancies.

The pregnancy care center has been a rewarding experience for me. I am a father of two children, 3 years old and 12 weeks old. I was faced with a lot of challenges in disciplining my oldest son and learning how to adapt to taking care of two children at one time. I registered with Waller Pregnancy Care Center and the help I received changed my life. I worked with great people that were empathetic and listened to my struggles. My mentor sat with me and watched parenting DVDs on discipline. I also received help developing a schedule to work with my oldest son and still have time to play with and love on my youngest child. I truly enjoyed the "Better Mom, Better Dad" classes that was offered at the pregnancy center because I was able to share my experience with other parents. It helped knowing that I could receive help either individually or within a group. They see so many people and they're still always so personable. The diversity the center offers is great. Furthermore, when I would have stressful times and could not get to the center I could call and someone was there to assist me. They would remind me to breathe and to take a minute to regroup. They also helped me find another agency that provided counseling for dealing with stress. The pregnancy center was so generous and very accommodating.

I work very long hours and sometimes am unable to get to the store or just do not have enough money to buy supplies for my boys. The pregnancy center has helped with diapers, wipes, and warm clothing for my newborn. I am truly blessed to know that there are organizations out there not just to assist mother, but also fathers, who struggle with maintaining a personal and family life. Going to Waller Pregnancy Care Center has taught me how to balance my time effectively with my children and assist my wife with the areas she needs help with. We both have learned how to schedule time with our children, each other, and ourselves. The Waller Pregnancy Care Center has impacted my life tremendously and has taught me the importance of balance and how to value myself and my family. Thank you Waller Pregnancy Care Center!

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount. The Service Provider completed corrective action for the deficiency listed in Section II of this report by addressing and rectifying it prior to the date of this report.

My name is Richard and I have one son who is five years old and another on the way. I found out about The Open Door from my son's mother, and I'm sure happy I did. The people here are very helpful. I've been coming to classes here and have learned a lot. I've learned about being a better father and how to help my children's mother. It's not always easy being a Dad but it's comforting to know I have a place to go where people understand how I'm feeling. I can also count on the people at The Open Door to teach me things I didn't know, like how to take care of a baby. It helps me feel safe and more confident about my place in all of this.

This program and the people here have given me a new start and a new and better way to move forward. The Open Door is the best place for anyone wanting to learn to be a good and organized Dad. I've never felt more comfortable as I do now. I hope that one day I can give back and help someone like the people here have helped me. I am very thankful for all their help.

Hayden was a previous client in 2010. We had done a pregnancy test, ultrasound, and had several one on one consultations with her. She was 15 years old and had lost her mother just one month prior to coming to us. During the one on one mentoring, Hayden disclosed a history of sexual abuse and poor living situations, along with no family support currently. We encouraged her with many resource referrals, one on one classes and discussed adoption at length. We encouraged her to get her education and prioritize her plans for the baby. She met with us for support on 5 separate occasions.

When Hayden called today she was full of joy, she thanked us for all that we did for her in walking through that tough time 3 years ago. She explained that she tried for about 8 weeks to parent her baby, but was not successful. She desired to be a mother who was both prepared and educated, and said that she felt so supported by us during that time she was coming here. She ended up placing her baby for adoption through a distant relative who is an employee in child protective services. She is now happily married, has her GED, pregnant, and due within a month. She called us to register for classes to prepare her and her husband for the care of this new baby and to thank us for being a source of great comfort to her in the past.

Jane was a 33 year old Hispanic female who was born and raised in the Austin area. Although both her parents worked and earned a good living, she said her family always seemed to struggle and move frequently. When asked about her childhood Jane says she was abused but also spoiled. Her father was an alcoholic and was very abusive to everyone in the family. She said she always felt like an outcast of the family and her father told her numerous times that she should never have been born, and that he'd told her mother to abort her, but her mother wouldn't do it. So now he was stuck with her

Jane was very close to her grandfather and was devastated when he died and she remembers it very vividly when she was only 7 years old. The day of his funeral several of the children in the family went to visit neighbors and they all started smoking cigarettes, so they passed one to her. She said that was the beginning of many addictions she had. When asked about her substance abuse Jane said that she always remembers smoking cigarettes and at age 12 she went to a party of older teens and started using cocaine. She used that off and on for several years and that led to using stronger drugs and alcohol, which she used regularly. When she was 14 her mother died of colon cancer and diabetes. She said she "went off the deep end" and quit school, and just lived with friends for a long time. Jane said all she ever wanted was to be accepted but having gotten in with the older and wrong groups at such an early age, she learned to cope with life using drugs and alcohol.

After experiencing homelessness for several years, Jane learned about OLAMS from a social worker at the health department in Austin. At this time, Jane learned she was pregnant again. She had already lost custody of 3 children and she decided it was time she "got her act together" and take part in this child's life that she was carrying. The father of her unborn child was also homeless, but both became determined to change their lives and become a family.

OLAMS arranged for Jane to travel on the train from Austin to Temple. After arriving at OLAMS, the staff worked quickly to get Jane into agencies that could help her get back on track with all that she wanted to accomplish, the first being establishing an OB doctor. Jane had many medical problems during her other pregnancies stemming from her drug and alcohol abuse, her Type 2 Diabetes and lack of medical care during pregnancy. All three of her children were born with some type of physical problem as a result of her drug/alcohol abuse, which led to their being taken away from Jane. This also put her in a high risk category during this pregnancy and the need to go the doctor every two weeks, then once a week. OLAMS set up counseling for Jane through the Central Texas Council on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse. Jane took part in their Mommy and Me Group Program, then she started working one-on-one with a personal counselor that helped her deal with her previous addictions. OLAMS also made sure that Jane attended weekly Parenting Classes at Hope Pregnancy Center and she was so excited when she started earning their Baby Bucks that enabled her to "buy" new items that her baby would need. She also went to a weekly group called Celebrate Recovery. Both of these organizations gave her wonderful support groups where she felt like she no longer was an outcast and she looked forward to them each week. With encouragement she also met with a local counselor who accepted her Medicaid and helped her deal with her abuse, as well as the loss she felt from losing custody of her children. All of these agencies helped Jane gain self-confidence that she'd never had before, and it soon became apparent that she was intent on changing her life for the better.

Another goal we established for Jane was to complete her education. She only remembered finishing the 8th grade, so we found a retired teacher who would come to the shelter and work with her on some of the subjects she'd found difficult in school. Pretty soon Jane felt confident enough to take a GED course that indicated where she needed improvement to pass the GED test. We purchased the GED prep book for her and she said she actually enjoyed studying again.

OLAMS does not have computers available for residents, so we encourage them to go to the Goodwill Learning Center to use their computers. At the GLC there are numerous cubicles that give them the privacy while working with personnel to prepare resumes and apply for jobs. It also offers classes to help individuals increase their skills to make them more marketable in searching for a job. Jane had seldom used a computer and she enjoyed the classes she took at GLC. We both laughed when she brought back a certificate she'd earned, stating she had "successfully completed a course in Mousing".

Because she had no recorded rental history, there were a lot of challenges in getting housing facilities to even consider her application. However, after the Administrator made a few phone calls to Temple Housing Authority, they moved Jane to the top of their list. Two weeks before her daughter was born she was able to move into her own apartment. OLAMS works with a local group called Furniture for Families through Ashley Furniture in Killeen, TX. They were contacted, gave Jane a list to complete for what she would need to set up her apartment, then they delivered as much furniture as she needed that they had available. A local support agency provided gift certificates to Walmart that enabled Jane to get household products she needed for her new home.

Moving into her own apartment was a little frightening at first, but soon she enjoyed getting her home ready for her new baby. Little Daniella arrived by C-Section and although she was in good physical condition, she had several minor problems that sent her into NICU, where she stayed 2 weeks. The hospital was very kind to let Jane stay at the Ronald McDonald House that shuttled her back and forth to the hospital to see her daughter. It was a great day that we all celebrated when Jane took her daughter home.

Jane's boyfriend had found a job in Austin and worked hard saving money to someday make a move to Temple to join Jane and their daughter. He rides the train to Temple every weekend to see Jane and Daniella.

I'm happy to report that 4 months after leaving OLAMS, Jane and her daughter are doing great. The counselor she had worked with through the Mommy and Me program goes to her home each week to continue the parenting/counseling sessions with Jane. The Housing Authority also has an on-site Resource Building where GED tutoring is available and Jane is looking forward to taking her GED test this May. She has decided she wants to be a nurse. Even though Jane has left OLAMS, we will continue to help Jane as she makes progress in being an independent and successful mom.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount.

Our Lady of the Angels Maternity Shelter focuses on providing pregnancy support, education, life skills, and shelter for pregnant and/or parenting homeless women. They provide referrals, material assistance, and a variety of classes that cover life skills, nutrition, pregnancy, childbirth, relationships, anger management, child care, post partum stress, breastfeeding, abuse, stress management, parenting education, and budgeting skills.

A counselor from A Woman's Haven received a call from a pregnant woman who had been abandoned at a hotel by her abusive boyfriend. Her name was Maggie and she had no money and no place to go. When the counselor went to pick her up, she explained that he had bought an illegal abortifacient from Mexico and administered it to her. He left her alone to deal with the aftermath. When Maggie began to bleed uncontrollably, she called 911 and was told in the emergency room that she was aborting. She became hysterical because she WANTED her baby. Later, the sonogram showed that the baby was INTACT!

She lived in a safe house for five months. She was considered a high risk pregnancy not only because of the attempted abortion, but she also because she suffers from epilepsy. She has had several seizures but thankfully, she is now on the correct medicine and the seizures are not as frequent.

Her baby was born a month premature. He is absolutely beautiful and is gaining weight, growing, and is considered very developmentally mature although his immune system, stomach and other internal organs still need time to develop. She has obtained material and financial support from A Woman's Haven's. Many hours have been invested in this special client in counseling (including self-esteem and life skills), resources and referrals, resume writing and job search. Those hours were gladly spent as several of her goals have come to fruition. She is now a more assertive young woman; she has realized that the life she led in the past was very destructive; that she must separate or at least reduce her involvement with her family who are or have been involved with drugs, alcohol, and jail-time. She understands that she does not have to share her life, plans, or problems with them. She also has transitioned to her own apartment which is HUGE for her, as she has never accomplished that type of independence.

Her plans to work are currently on hold because of her health issues and those of her sweet baby who has had many medical problems due to his prematurity. We are in the process of obtaining a computer for her so that she can register for online courses to become a dental assistant.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount.

A Woman's Haven is well known in the San Antonio area as a valuable resource for pregnant and/or parenting women and is located near a public transportation route. They receive many referrals from local resources, such as CPS, Santa Rosa Hospital, Medicaid, social workers, and the Texas Workforce Commission. They provide clients with many outside referrals, such as the San Antonio Food Bank, Guadalupe Home, Seton Home, homeless shelters, WIC, and Medicaid.

She arrived at Hope House in the summer. She had a 7 year old daughter, was six months pregnant, and had no place to turn. Shelly became homeless after her mother lost her job and the baby's father also became unemployed. The family was not able to pay their bills and they were evicted from their apartment. Shelly was not working and had no income. Being pregnant made it difficult for Shelly to find emergency shelter, as many area shelters will not house pregnant women for more than a few weeks. She was referred to Hope House through another shelter in the area. Hope House had an opening and she was called for an interview. Shelly, her daughter, and her unborn baby were placed in one of Hope House's apartments.

The family immediately began making positive steps toward their future. Shelly started GED classes at Del Mar college and hopes to begin college courses soon after completing her GED. She gave birth to a healthy baby boy while residing at Hope House. She said she really enjoyed and learned a lot from the Life Skills classes and that the staff at Hope House motivated and empowered her. She recently moved into her own apartment and is currently working in the senior care field. She is supporting both her daughter and baby boy on her own.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount. The Service Provider completed corrective action for the deficiencies listed in Sections I and II of this report by addressing and rectifying them prior to the date of this report.

Corpus Christi Hope House consists of two shelters. Both are apartment buildings that accommodate women and their dependent children and pregnant women in need. They also have a Resource Center that has classrooms and a meeting room with computers for the Life Skills Training Program. Corpus Christi Hope House is heavily focused on providing pregnancy assistance, education, emergency shelter, and counseling to pregnant women in need. They provide food, clothing, furniture, diapers, and college tuition to women in need. They also offer classes on a variety of topics such as anger management, relationships, life skills, parenting, breastfeeding, stress management, and nutrition. Hope House is well known within community as a resource for women experiencing an unplanned pregnancy or women with dependent children in need of emergency shelter and long term housing.

I was greeted by a young lady with a big smile, and she began to tell me immediately how active her nine month old son was. She said "can you believe he is standing up on his own!" I could hardly believe this was the same young woman who was so afraid when she first came to the crisis pregnancy center. I remember her saying "I'm by myself, and I just do not know what I'm going to do with another child." I really do not want to have an abortion, but I am alone. During our session I shared information with her. When I showed her a small fetal model, I remember her picking up the model with a look of amazement on her face. I assured her that she could return to the pregnancy center for support.

She returned to the center a couple of weeks after her initial visit. She was very upset because of her relationship problems and her anxiety about her pregnancy. During this visit we talked about her support from family and friends. We also talked about her strengths and plans for the future. When she left the center, she was smiling, and she seemed more confident. A day later I followed up with her by phone, she stated "I am keeping my baby, and I believe we will be alright."

On this day with a big smile she said "thank you for helping me when I felt like pulling my hair out. I really don't know what I would have done if I had not come to First Choice."

First Choice Pregnancy Resource Center provides pregnancy assistance, support, education, counseling and material assistance to pregnant women in need. They also provide clients with a wide variety of educational programs that are delivered in-house, covering topics that include parenting, breastfeeding, budgeting skills, life skills, pregnancy, fetal development, nutrition, and relationships. They offer their "Daddy Boot Camp" to male clients, in which a male instructor teaches them how to care for an infant, how to care for mommy, and how important it is to be a positive influence on their children.

It is shared for the limited purpose of illustrating the quality and scope of the Service Provider's work. The client has given their consent for their story to be included in this report, and their name has been changed to protect their privacy.

Today is my son, Seth's, birthday. A year ago today I found Raffa Clinic. I believe I was around seven to eight months pregnant when I went to the clinic. I felt like there was no hope left for me being where I was in my life and the struggles that I faced daily. At that time in my life a child was not something I had planned. My at home life wasn't strict. I had been through things people should never have to go through. My life was a downward spiral into drugs. I was losing myself trying to run away from thoughts that never surfaced before. This lifestyle was destructive and I was almost on the verge of no return. Then I came across a pamphlet that told me about the Raffa Clinic. My plan was to place my baby for adoption. I had kept my pregnancy a secret until I walked into that clinic. They were so understanding. I felt like I could just blurt out my secret to them. Adoption seemed like the best and most mature idea. I wanted to give this little baby in my tummy to a place and family that would love him. I also wanted financial stability for him. I had hope for him to see better days and not have to grow up the same way I did.

After going to Raffa Clinic I decided to tell mother that I was pregnant. She was there to help me and I realized that my pregnancy was bringing us closer together. The support from Raffa Clinic helped me find the strength and hope I had forgotten about. My mind began to wander about being a mother, about loving someone for the rest of their life, about caring for them, being there with them always, and growing with them. As I got closer to my due date, I had put my foot down and tell myself that even though I could feel my little baby and was completely falling in love with him, I was going to stick with adoption.

I went to the hospital the evening before I was scheduled to be induced. My mentor from Raffa Clinic came to see me. I felt as if she could see how I really felt. She became more of a friend than just a peer counselor. Even though she was a stranger, she never felt like a stranger... It felt like she belonged in my life. The lady from the adoption agency that I had chosen, came to explain the adoption papers. I signed them and then prepared to go to sleep. That night I lay awake reminding myself that I had done the right thing. I couldn't support my son's needs and I hadn't made anything out of myself. I was on a path of self-destruction and I couldn't possibly become what he needed from a mother. I stared out the window for hours till it was time to be induced. The next day I gave birth to my son. The nurse handed me the most precious, tiny blonde hair, blue eyed baby. I couldn't help but to feel this over whelming sensation of love. I felt the need to love and protect him, always. In that moment I realized that no drug, no romance, nothing would ever be more important to me than my son. I am his mother. I could see this beautiful baby in my arms and I suddenly didn't care about any of the things that had controlled my life for so long. He was mine and I was his. I looked in those eyes and here was my son. He was my fresh start. He was the reason I would finally work toward the world that I dreamt of.

If I didn't have my mother or my mentor at Raffa Clinic, I wouldn't be here today to celebrate the one year anniversary of the beginning of our two lives together. Today I have been 20 months sober. Today I am being a good mom. Today I have a great relationship with my mom. I am on track. It's me and my son. He has opened my mind and my heart to things I had never let in. If it wasn't for him, I wouldn't be here. He saved my life.

I now am living with my cousin and Seth even has his own room. I'm so happy and I feel like I'm living a dream come true. I'm only seeing bright happy days. I'll never forget the day that changed my life.

I start college in the spring and am working toward an associate's degree. Thanks to my mother, my son, and Raffa Clinic, the impossible became possible.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount.

Raffa Clinic provides much needed assistance to pregnant and parenting women in need. They provide their pregnant clients with vouchers for free Childbirth classes at a local hospital. They also offer their clients the opportunity to attend pregnancy, parenting, and CPR classes. Raffa Clinic receives many of its referrals through Child Protective Services and often refers clients out to community resources such as the local Medicaid office, WIC, and local physicians.

The day I found out I was pregnant, I felt as if my world was closing in on me. I was 21-years-old and entering my junior year of college. At the time, all I could think about was completing my education and not disappointing my parents. My initial thought was to terminate the pregnancy and resume back to my normal life as fast as I could. A close friend, who was there with me when I took all three home pregnancy tests, suggested that I take a few days and seriously think about my decision. Another friend told me about Care Net Pregnancy Center and offered that I go there to get service. I immediately called Care Net and scheduled an appointment for the following day.

The next day, my fears were reconfirmed that I was pregnant. I didn't know what to do next. The nurse and counselor went over all options with me. I left the clinic with an appointment for a sonogram the following week and a lot on my mind.

I went in for my first sonogram. I had made up in my mind that I would not look at the screen; but, when the nurse asked, I agreed without hesitation. As she began to perform the sonogram and the fetus came into view, I knew, instantly, my life had changed forever. Up until this time, I had referred to the fetus growing inside of me as "the baby;" but, in a short moment, I heard my baby's heartbeat. I knew right away I couldn't not have my child. I left Care Net that day with a changed mind and a happy and satisfied heart. I was having a baby! I was encouraged to seek medical help from a professional doctor to ensure I kept myself and my baby healthy throughout the pregnancy. My journey with Care Net didn't stop there.

I attended a labor and delivery class offered by another location of Care Net. My lifetime goal is to become an obstetrics gynecologist; so, although I knew a lot about labor and delivery, it was a great experience to be able to discuss the topic with other expecting mothers. After the four hour class, I was awarded 200 points. I was told, with these points, I could purchase diapers, formula, and other necessities for my unborn child. I had attended an information class and given points to spend at the center for items I would need for my baby. What a great day it was! Before I left Care Net, I set up an appointment to meet with a counselor to discuss any problems or concerns I might have and to answer all questions as I became a new mother.

At my appointment, we discussed school, my health, my relationship with my family as well as my son's father (whom I am still dating), and many other things. I was worried about school, because I had heard rumors that I could possibly be asked to leave since I was attending a Baptist university. I later found out that was incorrect; and, in fact, most girls decide to take the semester of their due date off to be relieved of the school work load and prepare themselves for adjustment. I was also concerned because I had been really sick going into my second trimester and didn't know if I would be able to bear the responsibility of being a fulltime student. My health came into discussion, because the counselor wanted to make sure I was taking full advantage of all aid and care that was offered to me. She informed me of all types of assistance that was available; some that I had never heard of. I was given information packages to take home and read about. My relationship with my family and my boyfriend went well. It took some adjusting for all of us but it was turning out that I would have the support I needed. Although sometimes I have walked in with doubts, each time I leave Care Net Pregnancy Center, I am comforted and I feel reassured that everything will be alright. Because of school I have not been able to take full advantage of all of the opportunities Care Net has to offer such as the classes, regular scheduled counseling sessions, or partaking in reading with my baby but, nonetheless, when I am able to stop by, I am always greeted with a smile, welcomed by name, and I feel as if I am home.

Today I have a healthy eleven-month-old baby boy. Care Net saved my life. Care Net saved his life. Care Net saved our lives; and, for that, I am thankful.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount.

Care Net Pregnancy Center of Central Texas is focused on providing pregnancy assistance and support, counseling, and material assistance to pregnant women in need. The organization has been operating for 28 years and is well known within the Waco area as a source for women experiencing challenging pregnancy situations. They are located in close proximity to all three colleges. In addition to material assistance, referrals, and counseling, they provide a variety of classes that include topics such as breastfeeding, pregnancy, childbirth, child care, maintaining relationships, budgeting skills, job finding skills, nutrition, stress management, parenting, post-partum stress, STD education, and life skills.

Barbara came into Children and Family Institute in during the Fall of 2012 with the belief that so many other parents have... "I don't need parenting classes. I know how to be a parent." However, Barbara was unaware of the impact that her childhood and current actions were having on her ability to properly parent her four children. Barbara was raised in a home with an alcoholic father who was in and out of jail and a mother that was physically, emotionally, and mentally abusive. Oblivious to the effects of this negative environment, Barbara soon started to raise her children the only way that she knew how; by continuing the cycle of abuse. As a result of this abuse Barbara was soon reported to Child Protective Services and referred to Children and Family Institute's Pathways to Parenting Program because she had a four month old infant in the home.

Through the Pathways to Parenting Program Barbara received one on one parenting classes with an experienced mentor and was able to gain insight into the ways that her past was affecting her current parenting as well as develop an individualized action plan to stop this cycle of abuse in the future. Barbara's mentor focused on her parenting and individual needs, provided unconditional support and encouragement during this difficult transition time, and also linked Barbara with much needed community resources to alleviate some of the challenges associated with parenting.

After Barbara received her Pathways to Parenting certificate she expressed her gratitude through a personal letter to her parenting mentor. In the letter Barbara thanked Children and Family Institute and the Pathways to Parenting program for helping her to "fully understand the role of a mother." Barbara spoke about how the Pathways to Parenting program helped her to change her parenting beliefs and start being the person she wanted her children to be. She explained that "spending time with your kids is essential" and that "even when you don't have time, you have to make time for your children" no matter what age they are.

Due to her involvement with Children & Family Institute Barbara has transformed from a woman on the verge of losing her children to one with a stable job, full custody of her four children, and a new outlook on her role as the parent of an infant. Barbara understands that all of her children challenge her every day to "tackle some of my inner issues" and also that in order to continue providing her children with a positive environment that "the change has to start with me."

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount.

Children and Family Institute is heavily focused on adoption services, pregnancy assistance, education, and counseling to pregnant women in need. They offer a variety of classes that educate clients on parenting, nutrition, child development, healthy relationships, preparing for the future, and what to expect during pregnancy. Many of their referrals come from CPS and local medical providers. Clients are assisted with Medicaid and housing applications and are provided with referrals to community resources. They provide offsite adoption awareness at local schools, as well as classes for pregnant and parenting teens.

It's difficult to explain in this short letter how much my life has changed since working with Mr. Smith. The short of it is that my recovery experience started out as just a sentence for a probation violation but the long of it has turned out to be the best thing I could have done for my future.

As a man with 5 children, ages 10-4, born to 3 different women and 1 one baby on the way, I can say that I never fully knew the importance of being a father but Mr. Smith has helped me to sharpen the tools in my tool belt so I can not only stay clean from drugs but also so I can be a better man and father to my children.

It was real easy the first few times for me to push the females I had been with to have abortions, but for whatever reasons it never worked out so I took it as a sign that it wasn't supposed to happen. When I found out that my girl was pregnant again this last time, everybody from my aunt who had already adopted one of my babies to my girl's mother told us to not have another baby. They thought we were stupid for deciding to not have an abortion. It was from working with Mr. Smith and going through the program that I realized that my mistakes were not death sentences and that I just needed to step up and make wiser choices and better decisions.

Mr. Smith has been very helpful as a mentor and a positive male role model. He has helped me with job searching, setting goals, finding a sponsor, trying to work everything out with my kids' mothers and my family, and learning what it takes to be a better dad to my kids.

I have been drug free for a year now, and I started a new job about 4 months ago. I also graduated from a specialized drug court program in February. I qualify for early release for my probation and I have Mr. Smith to thank for helping me make up my mind to be a better man.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount.

Family Care Connection is a valuable resource in its area. They specialize in providing low income families with much needed assistance, referrals, and support. They strive to educate and prepare their clients to be good parents and to break the cycle of abuse and neglect. They offer special programs for fathers and teen parents, and even have a baby literacy program. They provide information on baby massage and healthy relationships. Soon they will offer Doula services to their clients. Family Care Connection is well known within the area and by local health care facilities/providers, schools, and social services agencies as an organization that provides pregnancy assistance, material assistance, and support to pregnant women in crisis pregnancies and parenting families in need.

Shortly after I graduated high school I found out I was pregnant. It was decided for me that I was not ready for a child. I was a child myself so I figured perhaps this was the best option. I felt very uncomfortable as I lay on the table at the abortion clinic but I didn't have regret until that moment of pain and I knew it was done. It was too late to change my mind and there was nothing I could do. I had resentment after the procedure but I tried to focus on starting college and achieving my goals so that one day I could provide for a family.

In the fall semester of that same year I found out I was pregnant again. I hid it for 6 months, until I knew it was too late for an abortion. Six months after my son was born I found out I was pregnant again. I was working at a fast food restaurant and their father did not work. I knew it would be tough to raise another child but abortion was never an option. After my daughter was born I felt like I had a perfect little family. I thought my family was complete but I soon learned I was wrong.

I was very upset when I found out I was pregnant again because I didn't think I could afford another child. I visited the Pregnancy Help Center for the first time and learned about the services and support they could offer me. I still couldn't see beyond my financial situation so I made an appointment at an abortion clinic. The day before my appointment I realized that I didn't have all the documentation I needed for the procedure so I cancelled and rescheduled for two weeks later. The day before my second appointment I received an early morning phone call from my boyfriend. He had been arrested and was asking me to pick him up. I missed my second appointment at the abortion clinic so I rescheduled it again for two weeks later. When I finally made it to my appointment, I learned that I was too far along for the doctor to perform an abortion. At that point I was devastated because the idea of having 3 children was very stressful. Soon after having my third baby I decided to go to nursing school and became an LVN. I wanted to be a good example to my children and show them that just because life is sometimes difficult, it was important to follow your dreams. I had 3 kids, drove 180 miles every day for my classes and clinical, worked a full time job, and I still reached my goals.

Today I am a provider, I am responsible, and I am independent. I love my children and they have made me the woman I am today. I strive to do better not for myself, but for them. Pregnancy Help Center of Lufkin helps me do this. I learn from the staff and am able to interact with other mothers. I don't mind sharing my life experiences and story with anyone because of the possibility that it may help someone else. It may even give someone that is in a situation like mine the strength to choose parenting.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount. The Service Provider completed corrective action for the deficiency listed in Section II of this report by addressing and rectifying it prior to the date of this report.

Pregnancy Help Center of Lufkin is focused on providing pregnancy assistance, education, counseling, and material assistance to pregnant women in need. They have been in operation for 28 years and are well known within the area as a resource for women experiencing challenging pregnancy and parenting situations. One of the main focuses at Pregnancy Help Center of Lufkin for their clients is education and returning to school. They encourage their clients to increase their attendance and grades, and to consider college. Assistance is provided to clients when registering for community college and completing FASFA forms. They offer classes that cover a variety of topics, including pregnancy, budgeting, nutrition, and decision making. They also provide information and assistance for resume writing and job interviewing.

In August of last year, Jennifer had a friend refer her to our office for a pregnancy test. She had missed her period and thought she might be pregnant. As I talked to her, I discovered that she had had an abortion at the young age of 13. She had no regrets regarding the abortion though she had been almost 5 months. Jennifer said she felt like she was too young to raise a baby at that age and didn't want to put the baby up for adoption so she chose to abort. Although she was older now, she wasn't sure she wanted to be a parent. She and her boyfriend had been together for 2 ½ years and had a good relationship and she felt that a baby might mess it up. When the test showed positive, Jennifer was not happy to say the least, she hadn't planned pregnant. This was not a good time. They lived together with her parents and because her dad had lost his job, her mom was the only person working and bringing in money for the family.

As we discussed her options and the development of the baby, she seemed to soften and reality began to set in. She was no longer a naïve 13 year old that felt abortion was "the easiest way out." She began to realize that she had a responsibility to choose the best option. Her boyfriend said he would accept whatever decision she made. After much discussion, she left the office leaning toward the decision to parent but was not completely sure.

Less than a month later, Jennifer came in and inquired about our nutrition class and said she had decided to keep the baby. We signed her up for the class and allowed her to choose three maternity outfits from our pantry since she was beginning to show. She said that she wanted to learn all that she could so she could be a good mother. She mentioned that although she didn't want to, she had quit school to get a job to help her family.

She has now taken every class we offer and has been so appreciative of the knowledge she has gained. She is prompt and dependable. It has been very gratifying to hear her tell other clients about the information she has learned from Living Alternatives. In addition to the knowledge, she earned enough money from attending our classes to purchase many much needed baby items shopping through our Rewards Program. She has been busy throughout the pregnancy attending classes, gathering baby items, and preparing herself to be a well-informed mother, while working almost 40 hours a week. We have watched her go from someone with no parenting skills to a confident, loving, and prepared mom who understands the value of a human life. She is due in 6 weeks and is very excited that she is having a girl. Jennifer is also eagerly looking forward to continuing her education after the baby is born.

Jennifer is so appreciative of the services we have provided for her. It is so rewarding to have our clients continue to come by to visit and let us see their precious, growing children, and also to see some clients become responsible, loving, parents, when they had once believed abortion was their only option.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount.

Living Alternatives of Jacksonville has been in operation for almost 20 years and is a much needed resource in the small community of Jacksonville. It is well known throughout the area and local schools as a resource for providing education, pregnancy support, and material assistance to pregnant women in need. They also provide clients with a wide variety of educational programs, covering topics that include pregnancy, parenting skills, nutrition, car seat safety, and budgeting skills. They also have a program that rewards clients for attending pregnancy and parenting classes. Together, both parents have the opportunity to earn over $250 toward new baby supplies.

Abortion Services Program. It is shared for the limited purpose of illustrating the quality and scope of the Service Provider's work. The client has given their consent for their story to be included in this report, and the names has been changed to protect their privacy.

A young couple walked through our center doors, with a terrified untrusting uncertain look painted across both their young faces. As I greeted them and asked how I could help the young teenage girl, Kim, managed to stutter a shaky response, "I'm pregnant and we need help." We proceeded back to one of our counseling rooms where they told me their situation. They were both homeless, bouncing from place to place staying and with whoever would allow them. She had not eaten in three days, was jobless, broke, and pregnant. They weren't very talkative but were insistent on keeping the baby despite others trying to convince them to have an abortion. We connected them with resources to help them find housing, health services, and food pantries. We also discussed finding jobs and the assistance that Texas Workforce offers. Shortly after that day they found an income based apartment and they both found part-time jobs.

Since our first visit with Kim and Heath they have attended pregnancy and now parenting classes regularly, where they have learned that their unborn baby could sense their mood and that stress could affect her unborn baby's sleeping patterns. After her son was born Kim was very nervous about bathing him, so I invited her come to the office and we bathed him together. We went step by step on safe water temp, washing his hair and body, and cleaning his eyes, ears, nose, and so forth. She was so grateful for the guidance and encouragement. There have been several times that Kim has reached out for help concerning parenting her son, creating a resume, filling out applications, etc. Recently her boyfriend reached out for help when applying for a job that would provide excellent pay and benefits to support his family. I am pleased to report he was offered the job! Because his pay will be enough to support his family, Kim was able to quit her part-time job and enroll in college full-time. She has plans to get a degree in nursing.

Kim and Heath have learned, and are continuing to learn, how to be loving parents to a child that some family and friends encouraged them to abort. Not only are they excellent parents but they are pursuing education and a career that will enable them to be productive members of society.

VI. Conclusion

The corrective action for deficiencies listed in Section IV of this report resulted in the deduction of the reimbursed amount. The Service Provider completed corrective action for the deficiency listed in Section II of this report by addressing and rectifying it prior to the date of this report.

Living Alternatives of Palestine is heavily focused on providing pregnancy assistance, education, and counseling to pregnant women in need. They have been in operation for about 13 years and are well known within the community for providing parent education classes, as well as maternity clothes, baby clothes, and baby furniture. They also provide classes to assist their clients with budgeting skills, finding appropriate housing, life skills, nutrition, fetal development, and relationships.
